Senate Rejects Mandatory Price Supports

Administration Takes Whip Hand On Farm Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate handed its farm bloc another defeat today when it rejected, 54-33, an attempt to impose mandatory price supports on feed grains.

The test came on a proposal by Sens. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) to put mandatory supports, varying between 75 and 90 per cent of fair price parity, on oats, barley, rye, soybeans and grain sorghums.

The administration got the whip hand on pending farm legislation Monday night when the Senate beat the farm bloc in two major test votes. In these, the Senate adopted flexible price supports—varying from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity—on five basic crops and kicked down attempts to raise dairy prices.

Offered as Substitute

The Young-Humphrey amendment had been offered as a substitute for a section in the pending farm bill which would have tied price supports on oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums to the price of corn.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Agriculture committee opposed both the bill as it was presented and the Young-Humphrey substitute.

The grains are now under discretionary supports. Aiken said the program has worked well at keeping supplies in line with demand.

The Young-Humphrey proposal touched off an angry argument during which Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson was assailed and defended.

Young said there are "many rumors" that Benson planned to pull back supports for feed grains. Aiken denied any such intent.

Benson Record Defended

Humphrey angrily rejoined that he thinks the Senate should direct Benson to keep supports on the feed grains, because "frankly I don't trust the secretary. I don't know what he is going to do... he has demonstrated he is primarily interested in lowering farm income."

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), a former agriculture secretary in the Truman administration, defended Benson's record. He said he believes further that Benson is carrying out the Republican party's 1952 farm pledges.

Young told newsmen, however, his party has gone back on its promises to farmers. He predicted the administration's victory in the hard-fought Congressional farm battle will turn into grassroots defeat in the November elections.

Service Station Attendant is Beaten, Robbed

A service station attendant was beat up and the station robbed of approximately $50.00 about noon today.

Cletis Butler, attendant at the Bailey Miller service station near the Equality "Y", was attacked by two men about 12:15 p. m. today, being clubbed with a tire tool, or other heavy object, Gallatin County Sheriff P. C. Cox stated. Butler was in the station alone at the time of the robbery.

Mr. Miller, who was called to the station, told a Daily Register reporter he couldn't be sure just how much money was taken, but it would probably be between $45 and $50.

Sheriff Cox said Butler told him the two men entered the station and said "we want your money." When he attempted to fight them off they beat him, took the money and headed toward Harrisburg, driving a 1939 black Chevrolet. Butler was taken to the Ferrell hospital, Eldorado. It is thought his injuries are not serious.

Bullet is Fired Into Home at Eldorado

Sheriff Paul Spangler reported today that the home of Kenneth Baugher, Eldorado, was fired into last night about 8:30 but no one was injured.

Sheriff Spangler and Deputy Isham Threest made an investigation, but there was no clue as to who fired the shot. They were told a car raced past the Baugher home about the time the bullet crashed through the window, but it was not known if someone from the automobile fired the shot.

The 22 calibre slug was found imbedded in a wall.

"TERRIBLE TOUHY" RELEASED—Roger "The Terrible" Touhy, right, prohibition era gangster, smiles happily after federal judge John P. Barnes ordered him released on bond and said he believed Touhy was wrongfully convicted of kidnapping John "Jake the Barber" Factor in 1932. Judge Barnes, in his court at Chicago, vacated Touhy's 99-year sentence for kidnapping. With Touhy is U. S. Marshal Al Wohlers. (NEA Telephoto)

Two Judges, Former Richest Cop Involved in Charges Gangster Touhy was Framed

CHICAGO (AP)—Two judges and the onetime "richest cop in the world" were involved in charges that freed gangster Roger (The Terrible) Touhy was "framed" in 20 years' imprisonment.

The charges were made Monday by Federal District Judge John P. Barnes as he ordered the 56-year-old mobster of the Roaring 20's released on $10,000 bond.

The bearded jurist named Judges Thomas J. Courtney and Wilbert F. Crowley in his 774-page decision. But he reserved his most devastating charges for Daniel A. Gilbert, former chief investigator for the state's attorney's office who became known as "the richest cop in the world."

Barnes said "perjured testimony was knowingly used" in Touhy's 1934 trial for the alleged kidnapping of swindler John (Jake the Barber) Factor.

Courtney was Chicago's state's attorney at the time and Gilbert was his investigator. Crowley was Courtney's chief aide and conducted the actual prosecution.

Says Truth Suppressed Barnes said "Gilbert prevented witnesses from telling the truth" and added Courtney must take responsibility for his investigator's acts. Crowley, he said, presented the perjured testimony in court, but probably didn't know it was false.

Barnes thus backed up in essence Touhy's long-standing claim that Factor arranged his own kidnapping in conspiracy with Touhy's arch-enemy, "Scarface Al" Capone. The Capone syndicate "could not operate without the approval of the prosecutor's office, which at that time was Courtney and Gilbert," Barnes said. "The conclusion that Roger Touhy was a welcome scapegoat is irresistible."

In addition, Barnes said, Touhy's trial lawyer was not of his choosing and was actually a close friend of Gilbert's.

Courtney Denies Charge Courtney was the only one of the three men named by Barnes who would comment on Touhy's release. He snapped "He's as guilty as anyone in the state penitentiary."

"If Touhy is entitled to release, then everyone in Joliet (site of the state penitentiary) is entitled to his freedom," the Circuit Court judge said.

Crowley, a Superior Court judge, said he did not want to comment because the state attorney general has ordered an appeal of Barnes' ruling to the United States Court of Appeals.

Gilbert, whose career ended when he lost an attempt to become sheriff and was ousted from his job, is travelling in Europe. Touhy, meanwhile, said "I bear no grudge against anyone. Let their consciences bother them."

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said he would not fix a definite target date until the Senate has finally disposed of the atomic energy bill which already has provoked one lengthy Senate filibuster.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.) said the House is ready to go but will stick around until the administration's entire program of "must" legislation is completed.

The House Monday approved a Joint Conference committee compromise version of the atomic bill. But the compromise faces opposition in the Senate.

Knowland hoped there would not be another filibuster on the measure. But there always is the possibility and he wouldn't accept a definite adjournment date which would make a filibuster against the measure more effective.

"It looks now as if adjournment will come some time next week," he said. "Whether it will be Tuesday, Wednesday, or even Saturday depends on the amount of discussion we get on the atomic bill. I do not see any likelihood of adjournment this weekend."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower, who had hoped to leave for Denver next Monday, will remain in Washington as long as both houses of Congress are in session working on his legislative program.

Knowland said that when the legislative program is wound up, the adjournment will be on a basis that provides for the Senate to return later to take up the proposed extension of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Gov't to Begin Stockpiling U. S. Fluorspar

Word Received by Rep. Bishop; News Good for Area Mines

The Office of Defense Mobilization has authorized the General Services Administration to begin purchasing and stockpiling domestic metallurgical fluorspar, according to word received in Harrisburg this morning from Congressman C. W. Bishop.

Authorization came after several months of work by congressmen, particularly those from this area of the country, to get the action started.

An executive of one of the mining operations in southeastern Illinois reported this as "definitely good news" for the industry. Several of the fluorspar mines in this area have been forced to limit their operations this year and many of the smaller ones have all but stopped work, it is reported.

Hope For Buying Depot If the government will establish a buying depot in this section, the entire move will assume ever greater potentialities in the way of aid for the ailing industry.

Fluorspar officials feel it is the hope of all operations in this area that such a move will now be forthcoming.

One mill official related that imports of cheaper Mexican fluorspar had hurt the domestic marketing seriously during the past six months. Fluorspar that was selling for $38.00 a ton a year ago at this time was quoted as bringing less than $30.00 a ton at present.

The new authorization is expected to relieve the competition of foreign markets.

An official of one mine estimates the total unemployed in all categories from the lack of fluorspar mining operations in the area the past few months at nearly one thousand.

Three Grades Fluorspar is classified in three grades, namely metallurgical grade, acid grade used for aluminum, fluorine chemicals and by the atomic energy groups, and ceramics grade used in glass and related industries.

The metallurgical grade is the type presently designated for stockpiling. It is produced in this area both by the smaller and larger mining operations and is used almost wholly in the steel industry.

Some of the mines in this area which should benefit from the government order are the Minerva Oil Co., Fluorspar division, which has two mines near Cave-in-Rock; the Ozark-Mahoning Co.; the Victory Mining Co.; the Rosiclare Lead and Fluorspar Mining Co. and numerous other smaller mills.

Mrs. Johnson Kanady, Former Shawneetown Resident, Dies

Mrs. Gertrude Kanady, 83, widow of Johnson Kanady, former resident of Shawneetown, died at her home in Springfield Monday morning. She was a native of Gallatin county.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning in Springfield after which the body will be brought to the Westwood cemetery near Shawneetown for burial Wednesday afternoon.

Greater Egypt Association to Hold Membership Meeting at SIU Thursday

Greater Egypt Association will hold a membership meeting in the private dining room of Southern Illinois university cafeteria, Thursday, Aug. 12, at 6:30 p. m.

The objective of Greater Egypt association is to develop the natural resources, to publicize and advertise the area, to promote good will and fellowship among the various communities, and to work for the social and economic betterment of the 28 southernmost counties. Feeling it to be the duty of Chambers of Commerce and area business groups like Southern Illinois Incorporated to promote Illinois Incorporated to promote local industry, Greater Egypt association limits its activities to general publicity particularly on historic, scenic and recreational attractions and natural resources favorable for expansion and their protection.

Greater Egypt association is proud of its part in these achievements in the past decade. Purchase of Ferne Clyffe as a State park.

Improvements in accommodations at other State parks (Cave-in-Rock, Dixon Springs, Giant City and Red Hill).

Federal Forestry improvements at Old Stone Face, Illinois Iron Furnace and Old Stone Fort.

Improvements in accommodations at federally operated lakes of Crab Orchard, Glendale and Little Grass.

Fred H. Wasson, chairman, Carrier Mills, phone 3831; William H. Farley, Harrisburg Box 433, phone 812R; Lester C. Biggs, Cobden, phone 110F4.

Others without reservations may go through the cafeteria line and join the group at the tables if there is room.

Heart Attack While On Vacation Fatal to Rev. Girard Gaillard

Rev. Girard Gaillard, 45, who for the past year had been pastor of the Presbyterian churches in Ridgway and New Haven, died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday while driving in the Great Lakes region of Minnesota. Vacationing with him were his wife and two children, Norman, 14, and Cecile, 6.

A native of Holland, he grew up in Chicago, and had been preaching for the past 16 years. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Blood Program Discussed in Rotary Address

"If every able bodied citizen contributed to the blood bank program, no one person would need donate more than once a year to fill quotas," R. H. Brummett, Administrator of the St. Louis Blood Control program, told members of the Rotary club last night.

Mr. Brummett, speaking on the "Responsibilities of the Community" as related to the Blood Bank program, gave his listeners some interesting facts and figures on the work being accomplished by the blood program in the St. Louis region, of which Harrisburg is a part.

This region consists of two and a half million persons, the speaker pointed out, yet often the quotas are not met. The speaker also emphasized that by donating to the blood program we all are actually protecting ourselves or our loved ones against unforeseeable future events.

Few Carry Burden Brummett told the group that arrangements have now been made whereby Mayo's Clinic will accept blood from the St. Louis regional blood bank for patients of this area hospitalized there.

In the discussion period which followed the talk, it was brought out that of the 33,000 persons residing in Saline county, 40 per cent or 13,200 are considered in the age classification and therefore potential blood donors. Of this number, 10 per cent would probably be disqualified for various reasons. This would leave 11,880 as qualified donors to the Saline blood program. Yet, local officials report that less than one thousand persons are supporting the program, and thus carrying the burden which could be shouldered equally as well by some nine to ten thousand others.

The speaker was introduced by Millard Lynch, following a brief business session conducted by President John Foster. Guests present were Bruce Burnett and Audra Stone, both of Eldorado.

Before the meeting adjourned, members were reminded that the Bloodmobile is in Harrisburg this afternoon and will be in Carrier Mills at the Masonic temple between 12 noon and 6 p. m. Wednesday.

Then Friday afternoon starting at 1:30 there will be the House of Magic presentation, the beauty contest, the presentation of the three winners of the Thursday night talent show and Lucky LeRoy again.

The talent and beauty events will have Jim Eelen of WSL-TV as master of ceremonies. The talent contest is open to any person or group supplied electric service by the co-operative. All, however, must be amateurs. Prizes of $25 for first, $20 for second and $10 for third will be awarded with the winner eligible to compete in a state contest at Springfield Sept. 23.

The beauty contestants also must reside in a home receiving electric service.

Death Takes Mrs. Adolph Bailey, 76, Of Carrier Mills

Mrs. Julia (Almedia) Bailey, 76, wife of the late Adolph Bailey, 76, of the Carrier Mills community, died Monday at 8:15 a. m. at the Doctors hospital in Carbondale. She had been in failing health for the past two years.

The body was taken from the Miller funeral home in Carrier Mills to the home of the son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jackson, on North Main street in Carrier Mills.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at Coal Bank Springs Baptist church. Rev. John Beggs, pastor, assisted by Rev. Ernest Ammon, will officiate, and burial will be in the church cemetery.

She was a member of the Indian Camp Baptist church in Williamson county, and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brush.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Lewis (Edna) Jackson and Mrs. Cecil (Anna) Chase, both of Carrier Mills; six sons, Fred, Carrier Mills, Gale, Stonefort RFD 2, Virgil, Marion, Orvie, Pittsburg, Bernard (Mickey) and Norman, both of Marion, RFD 2, 17 grandchildren; 17 great-grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Harper and Mrs. Oscar Mills, both of Marion.

Palbearers will be Victor, Lavern and Coy Bailey, Verdin Chase, William Beggs and Otis Benson. Granddaughters will serve as flower girls.

Placed on Probation

Janita Flicke and Helen Boswell entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny in county court Monday and were placed on a year's probation by County Judge Ralph Choisser.

The two women were charged with taking goods valued at $20 from Charles Sutton.

Annual SEIEC Meeting Begins At Eldorado Thursday Night

To Elect Three Trustees; Beauty, Talent Contests

This is the week of the annual meeting of the Southeastern Illinois Electric co-operative at the co-op's headquarters just south of Eldorado and it will feature election of three trustees, a beauty contest, talent show and the General Electric House of Magic.

The events get under way Thursday evening and continue through Friday.

Thursday night Mayor John David Upchurch will deliver an address of welcome after which there will be the House of Magic, the talent contest, music by Lucky LeRoy, and a job training and safety demonstration. There will be organ music by John La Mothe at the Thursday night, Friday morning and Friday afternoon sessions.

Registration of co-op members will start at 8:30 a. m. Friday with the session getting under way at 10 a. m. with a welcome to the members by Ray Webb of Tunnell Hill, president of the board of directors.

Following the reading of the minutes by Treasurer Earl Hunt and an address, the election of three trustees will take place. The terms of Gilbert Galloway of Franklin county, Thurman White of Williamson county and Esol Oxford of Hardin county expire this year.

Then Friday afternoon starting at 1:30 there will be the House of Magic presentation, the beauty contest, the presentation of the three winners of the Thursday night talent show and Lucky LeRoy again.

The talent and beauty events will have Jim Eelen of WSL-TV as master of ceremonies. The talent contest is open to any person or group supplied electric service by the co-operative. All, however, must be amateurs. Prizes of $25 for first, $20 for second and $10 for third will be awarded with the winner eligible to compete in a state contest at Springfield Sept. 23.

The beauty contestants also must reside in a home receiving electric service.

Lions to Lead Polio Drive

Members of the Harrisburg Lions club in their regular meeting Monday evening voted to spearhead the emergency Polio fund drive in Harrisburg, Aug. 16 to 31.

A. M. Hetherington, chairman of the Saline County chapter, Infantile Paralysis, spoke to the Lions last night and pointed out that the Infantile Paralysis fund drive early this year, on a national basis, fell $20 million under the goal, which had been set at $75 million.

This has brought on a financial emergency and two weeks in August have been set aside for this emergency funds campaign.

Democratic National Chairman Mitchell In Area Next Week

Stephen A. Mitchell, national chairman of the Democratic party, will be in southern Illinois next week it was announced today.

He will be in Benton at the county club for a noon meeting Thursday, Aug. 19. The following day Mr. Mitchell will appear at a noon meeting in Murphysboro and will speak at the court house in Cairo Friday evening.

Ex-President Says Past Acts Aid Communism

Former President Speaks from Cottage Where He Was Born

WEST BANCH, Iowa (AP)—Herbert Hoover called Tuesday for an end to "unrestrained presidential actions" which he said in the past had led to a tacit alliance with Soviet Russia that "spread communism over the earth."

Mr. Hoover spoke from the cottage in which he was born on his 80th birthday. The address of the nation's only living former Republican President was broadcast and televised nationally.

The Republican Party's elder statesman said we should make "forever impossible" without the presidential power in making U. S. commitments abroad without the specific consent of Congress.

Lists Misuse of Power Misuse of presidential power in the past he said, had led:

1-To the recognition of Soviet Russia "which opened the headgates for a torrent of traitors."

2-To agreements at Tehran which "extinguished the liberties of tens of millions of people."

3-To "appeasement and surrender at Yalta of 10 nations to slavery."

4-To "the secret agreement with respect to China which set in train the communization of Mongolia, North Korea and all of China."

"These unrestrained presidential actions have resulted in a shrinking of human freedom over the whole world. From these actions came the jeopardies of the cold war," Mr. Hoover said.

He said he had "no fears of this evil from President Eisenhower, but he will not always be President."

Mr. Hoover warned that fuzzy-minded men have let the Communist "Karl Marx virus" spread into every nation, but he added that "my confidence, my hopes and dreams for my countrymen are undimmed."

Mr. Hoover said there were alarms being sounded daily that "our civilization is on the way out," but he said civilization cannot fall while the people possess dynamic creative faculties and devotion to religion and liberty.

"The American people still possess these qualities," he said. "We are not at the bedside of a nation in death agony."

In an address prepared for delivery at ceremonies observing "Herbert Hoover Day" in Iowa, Mr. Hoover said his parents and grandparents came by covered wagon to this community, which now has a population of 500.

The man who became 31st President of the United States recalled that his first paid job here was picking potato bugs at 1 cent a hundred.

Among those here to honor him was Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa.

Mr. Hoover said America's greatest need was to remedy constant corruption of the safeguards of free men. For instance, he said, the corrupting of the concept of separation of governmental powers

Political Promises

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The political axiom about election-year promises coming easy does not refer simply to pledges to the people. It embraces the support a candidate offers to his President or other party leaders.

Earlier this year President Eisenhower made clear that he was interested in backing only those candidates for Congress who were or would be active supporters of his legislative program and general policies.

This makes his task easy as regards men who openly avow opposition. But beyond that he must try to distinguish between the real and the strictly "election-year" promises.

Should candidate Joseph T. Meek of Illinois win election to the Senate this fall over Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas, he may provide an interesting test case on this matter of loyalty voiced in voting time.

In a recent letter to the President, Meek pledged his personal loyalties and his support of Mr. Eisenhower's objectives. Upon this assurance, the President declared he was for Meek. He plans an Illinois appearance which Meek is frank to concede could be of considerable help to him.

Meek's record, however, indicates consistent opposition over a period of years to the sort of policies the President favors.

As late as this last winter, Meek announced support of the Bricker amendment, opposed by Mr. Eisenhower on the ground it would cripple his treaty-making powers. He sometimes has given approval of Senator McCarthy, arch foe of the Administration.

Furthermore, he once flatly stated he would back the President's proposals only when he agreed with them. It did not seem then that this would be too often.

Now Meek has reversed himself in terms evidently convincing to the President. And if he should win, great curiosity will naturally attend his legislative performance in the Senate.

Fulfillment of his promise of support would have to be set down as another of those minor miracles which can be wrought when a President has overwhelming pulling power at the polls. We have had other illustrations of that in the time Mr. Eisenhower has occupied the White House. Men have submerged personal views in the larger cause of trying to make a Republican administration a success.

If a victorious Meek should, on the other hand, revert to his earlier positions, the chances are he would contribute mightily to the President's disillusionment over the grubby side of politics—which is already substantial. A few cases of that sort could play a decisive part in Mr. Eisenhower's determination to run or not to run in 1956.

Short-Lived

For a brief moment, it looked like Guatemala was in for more serious trouble. But it was quickly averted by a truce.

The country's regular army was unhappy about the continued existence of anti-Communist Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' so-called Army of Liberation. Evidently the army regulars felt their union shouldn't have any rivals. They declared frankly that "two armies defending the same cause could not exist simultaneously."

For the sake of the anti-Red gains made in the revolt by Colonel Castillo, it is well this flareup was settled so expeditiously. Once more, we can note with interest that our capable ambassador, John Peurifoy, played a part in bringing the belated uprising to an end.

The Sixty-Four-Dollar Question

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dewey Isn't Going To Run — Period; Control Of Future Atomic Patents Deadlocked; Conferees: Four More Dixie-Yates Power Plants Could Be Built In Tennessee Valley.

WASHINGTON. — Jim Hagerty, White House press secretary, who used to work for Tom Dewey, was categorical the other day in stating that the longtime governor of New York would not run again.

Hagerty knows Dewey about as well as anyone, and his statement probably means that Dewey is also out of the race for president in 1956. Many observers had figured that Eisenhower would throw his weight to Dewey for the GOP nomination, in case, as expected, Eisenhower is a one-term president.

Hagerty made his statement at a luncheon of the "Bull Elephants" club, an organization of male secretaries of Republican congressmen.

"Dewey will not run," Hagerty said categorically. "I've known Tom a long time."

He indicated that Senator Irving Ives would run for governor of New York instead.

SNARLED ATOM TALK

The question that chiefly snarled the closed-door conference debate over the atomic energy control bill was the control of patents. This sounds technical, but it goes to the root of the question of whether your children or a few big corporations will monopolize atomic energy in the next generation.

At present the U. S. government controls all the patents on atomic energy — 606 of them. Some congressmen, led by Chet Holifield of California, want some kind of public control for the future—in other words control for the next generation.

In the secret debate, however, Congressman Sterling Cole, New York Republican, bottled hard to wipe out future control and permit the corporations to begin taking out atomic energy patents immediately.

Senator Bricker of Ohio, another Republican, agreed with him. In fact, Bricker was even more stubborn than Cole. Siding with the Van Zandt of Pennsylvania and Hinshaw of California, Republicans, with Durham of North Carolina, Democrat.

However, one important Republican did not concur — Hickenlooper of Iowa.

"I can't take this back to the Senate floor," he remonstrated with his fellow Republicans. "It will touch off another fireworks. We've got to compromise."

HE AGREED WITH DEMOCRATS

What Hickenlooper had in mind was that the Eisenhower administration sided with the Democrats on the control of patents much more than the Republicans. The original Eisenhower atom bill provided for the pooling of atomic patents for five years, so that any company, large or small, would have the right to cross-license new atomic discoveries. In other words, it would have the right to use and pay a royalty on a new patent just as in the automobile industry today.

The Democrats proposed going further than Eisenhower and extending the patent pool from five to ten years. This was adopted by the Senate, and means that none of the large firms which has been on the inside with the Atomic Energy Commission will get the inside track on atomic patents for at least ten years.

But Congressman Cole wanted to knock out both ten years and five years, with no protection to small companies or the public. This was what caused the chief deadlock during the closed-door conference debates.

BRICKER WOULD DIE

Another hassle soon placed over Senator Langer's amendment that if any company which had been licensed to produce atomic energy should be found guilty of violating the antitrust laws, it shall forfeit the license.

"I will fight that till I die," declared Senator Bricker of Ohio, referring to part of the Langer amendment.

But, argued Holifield of California, "if a man transports narcotics illegally, his automobile is seized and confiscated. Why shouldn't a company which violates the law on atomic energy also forfeit his license?"

Bricker, however, remained obdurate.

Note — One bombshell brought to light during the closed-door atomic meetings was that the new bill provided that four more Dixie-Yates private-power projects could be built in the Tennessee Valley area. This was inserted by Senator Ferguson of Michigan in skillfully worded language which escaped most congressmen during the open debates. Congressman Cole and Van Zandt admitted, however, that the bill permits the AEC to license four private-power companies in competition with the TVA. Democratic congressmen say they regard this as a deliberate attempt by private utilities to hamstring TVA.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

It was Secretary of State Dulles who pressured Prime Minister Churchill into finally giving up British bases at the Suez Canal. Of the six "must" bills President Eisenhower pleaded with Congress to pass, the only one that will not pass is the wiretapping legislation—at least in the form that Brownell wants it.

The big auto companies always cut back production in the late fall to put out next year's models. This time, Postmaster General Summerfield, an old Chevrolet dealer and a power in Michigan where they make autos, has urged the manufacturers to postpone the cuts as long as possible, so plants won't be closing down just before elections in November.

The Air Force now has two models of the fabulous "Flying Stovepipe." This is a Ramjet with an open funnel through the middle. It is towed up to three hundred miles an hour. Then the air rushing through the open funnel is fired by fuel fed from burners. It is the world's only motor without moving parts, capable of flying at lightning, supersonic speeds.

The Japanese government has notified the U. S. embassy that Japan will be forced to increase trade with Communist China unless American purchases from Japan are increased considerably. Governor Shivers of Texas and Fine of Pennsylvania have already recommended that Japan must trade with Red China.

Japan's dye industries shipped a record 15,420 pounds of dyestuffs to foreign markets in 1955.

Eisenhower Takes Grandchildren for Cruise on Potomac to Fulfill Promise

WASHINGTON (CP) — The 64-foot White House motor cruiser slid up to darkened wharf at the naval gun factory Monday night and a small gangplank was put aboard.

Over the plank to a waiting limousine, President Eisenhower carefully led a little tousle-haired blonde attired in her white nightgown and light robe. It was his granddaughter, five-year-old Barbara Eisenhower.

Thus did the chief executive fulfill a long-standing promise to his grandchildren — to take Barbara, David, 6, and Susan, 2, on a Potomac River boat trip while they are visiting Washington.

The President's wife, their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his wife and the children spent the late afternoon and early evening cruising the river aboard a luxurious cabin cruiser or small yacht which is reserved by the Potomac River Naval Command for White House use.

The vessel was once called the Margie but since the Republicans have been in office the Margie has carried no name. Just a Navy serial number.

Mr. Eisenhower ordered the big White House yacht, the USS Williamsburg, taken out of service last year because he thought she represented needless luxury in a time of economy.

The Eisenhower family seemed to enjoy their 4½ hour cruise and dinner afloat. Barbara and Susan were sleepy at the end. Susan was snoring on the shoulder of a maid. David, however, was customarily wide awake and intensely interested in the landing operations.

Cadillac

Off on an Hour's Vacation!

To be honest with you, we're not certain where he's going. He may be journeying to a branch office of his corporation . . . or he may be heading home for the day . . . or he may just be taking his afternoon "constitutional" behind the wheel.

But one thing we know for certain. He's about to embark on a little vacation. And for its length, it will be one of the most wonderful interludes a man could hope to enjoy.

For he's about to spend an hour in his 1954 Cadillac — and here, beyond any question, is the perfect remedy for a trying day.

It will bring him physical relaxation—for his Cadillac is so comfortable and luxurious that merely to sit in the driver's seat is to rest. And the car handles and steers with such complete effortless that every mile is a tonic for the body.

It will bring him mental refreshment—for the car is such a joy to drive and ride in that a man seems almost automatically to leave his cares at the curbside. And it will bring him renewed enthusiasm and interest—for every moment a man spends with his Cadillac serves as a stimulating reminder of his past accomplishments—and acts as a wonderful inspiration for planning and thinking out the future.

All this, of course, is the very essence of Cadillac value. All cars offer transportation—and varying degrees of satisfaction. But it remains for Cadillac to provide a definite therapeutic for the mind and body of a work-weary man.

In this glorious respect, there are simply two types of cars: Cadillacs and all the others.

Come in sometime—when life has grown stale with the toil of the day—and take an hour's vacation in a 1954 Cadillac.

It will be the most refreshing sixty minutes you ever spent on the highway—and we'll be delighted to provide the car at any time!

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said the Illinois American Legion resolution withdrawing its support from the Girl Scouts was "silly."

Stevenson, who recently returned to his suburban Libertyville home after a tour of the Pacific Northwest and Canada, said Monday night the Legion "has more important things to do than attack the Girl Scouts."

The state Legion condemned the Girl Scouts for "placing emphasis on world citizenship."

The first teachers' college west of the Appalachian Mountains was established at Ypsilanti, Mich., in 1852.

Jelke and Sylvia R. Eder, 26, were married at Folkston, Ga., June 22 by Justice of the Peace J. E. Hancy Sr.

B. and P. W. C. L. S. Holds Breakfast Meeting

The August breakfast meeting of the Harrisburg Business and Professional Women's club was held Tuesday at 7 a. m. in the Fellowship hall of the First Christian church.

After the members sang "Father We Thank Thee For This Food," a delicious breakfast of orange juice, bacon, eggs, hot rolls, coffee, jelly and sweet rolls was served by the members of the Loyal Daughters class.

A short business session was conducted by the president, Miss Meriam Evans, during which Mrs. Mary Lois Bynum was elected and welcomed as a member.

Announcement was made of the Leadership Training conference to be held in Decatur on Aug. 22, and the president and chairmen of various committees will attend. Mrs. William Sloan Jr., State International Relations chairman, gave an account of the Leadership Training conference held in Kankakee on Aug. 8.

The 1954-55 program theme is "Adventure in Achievement" and will begin with the September meeting with Mrs. William Sloan Jr., legislative chairman, in charge.

There will be an ice cream social Thursday at 6 p. m. on the back lawn of Mrs. Gus Syers, 503 South McKinley, sponsored by the Naomi circle of the First Methodist church. Cake and coffee will also be served.

Mrs. and Mrs. Glynn McCormack left Saturday night for a vacation trip to Arlington, Va., to visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Norton and their two children.

Mrs. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones and daughter, Sue, of Edwardsville, spent the week end in Harrisburg with her mother, Mrs. B. J. Kaid.

Calendar of Meetings

The Saline Camera club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the Foster Studio.

The Pastor's Aid society of Bethel A. M. E. church will hold its picnic at Karel park Wednesday evening. All who wish to go and do not have transportation, meet at the church at 5:45 p. m. in order to leave at 6. All auxiliaries of the church are invited.

The 35th annual Riegel reunion will be held Sunday, Aug. 15, at the Galatia Methodist church. Please note change in place. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doron will be host and hostess. Mrs. Doron is the former Ellouise Harris from Galatia township.

War One Veterans Form Organization In Eldorado Meeting

Veterans of World War I of Eldorado met Sunday at the city hall in Eldorado and organized a new Barracks.

This organization of World War I veterans, a comparatively new one, is for the sole purpose of furthering the welfare of the veterans of that war. Lovell Hess, commander of the Eldorado Barracks, stated today.

Fifty-five charter members were signed at the Sunday meeting and many more vets of War I are expected to become members soon, Mr. Hess said. He continued by saying that any veteran wishing to become a charter member of the Barracks should make application before September 1 and the next meeting is scheduled to be held at the city hall, Eldorado, Thursday, Aug. 26, at 7:30 p. m.

Officers for the first year were elected as follows: Commander, Lovell Hess; senior vice commander, C. O. Brown; junior vice commander, Ralph Dennison; quartermaster, Ira Williams; chaplain, Horace Brown; Barracks Advocate, Enos Lamb.

Officer of the day, Ralph Tucker; historian, Chester Wasson; trustees, Alfred Davis, three years, Con Miller, two years and Jack Ganther, one year.

The appointive officers will be named later.

Out-of-town veterans present at Eldorado Sunday to help with the organization were Randall Gholson and Harry Redfern, both of McLeansboro; Louis Brake, Mt. Vernon; H. E. McManus, E. St. Louis; Harry Hall, L. H. Fleishmann and C. W. Gebbert, all of Centralia.

Brodie Child Taken Home For Third Visit

FERRIS, Ill. (AP) — Rodney Brodie was home from the hospital today for his third visit with his family since surgeons separated him from his less fortunate Siamese twin.

Rodney will celebrate his third birthday Sept. 16 at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie.

No definite date has been set for his return to the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital in Chicago, where he has been a patient since October, 1951.

Rodney's parents called for him at the hospital Monday and took him home in the family car.

Doctors said his progress has been good enough so that he now can spend more time at home than in the hospital. They said his visits home are an "important part of his therapy."

At home, he can play with his brothers and sisters, Steve, Linda, Ronnie and Barbara Ann.

Steve's birthday is the day after Rodney's, and Mrs. Brodie said the family may make it a double celebration. Steve is 10.

Rodney was born joined at the top of his skull to his Siamese twin, Roger.

Surgeons separated them Dec. 17, 1952, in an operation that made medical history, but Roger died later.

Rodney still must undergo surgery to give him a permanent hard covering for the top of his head.

He weighs only 31 pounds but doctors described him as "alert and happy."

Cooler Air Drops Temperatures; Storm at Kewanee

By United Press
Cooler air pressed south and east today, dropping temperatures as much as 19 degrees, and a violent wind storm struck in northern Illinois.

Temperatures in central Texas, Arkansas, northern Louisiana, across Tennessee and Kentucky and into the North Atlantic States were down 9 to 18 degrees.

The narrow band from northern Texas to the southern Great Lakes had cooler weather Sunday, reacted rapidly to warmer weather Monday with rises from 7 to 17 degrees.

However, another cooler air mass from Canada invaded the North-Central States, dropping temperatures in North Dakota and northern Minnesota 7 to 12 degrees. Heavy wind and thunderstorms continued as the leading edge of cooler air pushed southward from the Great Lakes region.

Piercing winds struck Kewanee, Ill., Monday night tearing roofs off buildings, smashing store fronts and uprooting trees. Three minor injuries were reported. The violent wind, which struck in different locations in the town, knocked out Kewanee's electric power service.

French Troops Round Up 3,000 In Morocco Riots

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Tanked French troops arrested some 3,000 persons today in Port Lyautey, scene of weekend riots that caused 192 casualties.

With helicopters keeping watch for unusual movements in the streets on this tense Arab feast day, the French forces blocked off large sections of the shuttered city in a search for extremists who touched off the riots.

The roundup was a big operation. The French forces included 550 men from a Foreign Legion battalion, a squadron of motorcyclists, two companies of tough Moroccan troopers, with the whole task force led by tanks and covered by armored cars.

A nationalist threat to cut the throat of any person caught killing a lamb in accord with custom on this feast day heightened the tension.

Only Flora Taken From Water Shortage List

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The number of towns on the state's "critical" water supply list was down only one today despite "considerable amounts of rain in several sections of the drought area."

The weekly report made by the State Division of Sanitary Engineering to Gov. William G. Stratton showed 21 towns still with critical ly-short water supplies as of Aug. 7.

Only Flora was taken off the previous list of Aug. 1. The report said rains had brought the Little Wabash River up more than four feet and all restrictions on the use of water in Flora have been lifted.

Still in "critical" condition are Ashley, Assumption, Beecher City, Blandinsville, Brownstown, Carterville, Coulterville, Crossville, Dieterich, Eldorado, Elkville, Greenfield, Harrisburg, Highland, Kincaid, Lovington, Mulberry Grove, Nashville, Paris, Teutopolis and Williamsboro.

In Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Paul Vogel of Eldorado, who passed away four years ago August 10.

Into Heaven's mansions Evelyn has gone.
Never to sigh or to weep;
After years with life's struggles,
Evelyn has fallen asleep.
On the hillside we have lain her
In the silent city to lie;
And although our hearts are broken

We would not question why.
She does not rest 'neath the grasses

Though over her grave they creep;
She has gone into the Kingdom,
She has fallen asleep.
Beautiful rest for the weary,
Well deserved rest for the true;
When our life's journey is ended
We shall again be with you.
This helps us in our sorrow,
Then, why for her must we weep?
For in his Word He has promised
He giveth His beloved sleep.

Sadly missed by Mrs. Grover Estes and Family. 37-1

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL. — Grell B. Soucie and Oscar L. Ferrebbe, business agents of the AFL Operating Engineers union holding contracts in the Terre Haute, Ind., area, filed motions in federal court here today which seek to dismiss labor racketeering indictments against them.

The pair also asked for a change of venue in the case of Danville, Ill., because of what they termed "prejudicial" newspaper publicity in this area.

The motion to dismiss the indictment alleged that the charges against them were too vague and uncertain to constitute a federal offense. Both men were charged with extorting money from a contractor on a highway construction job.

Control Presidential Powers: Hoover

has resulted in a huge, centralized federal bureaucracy which penetrates local government, wastes money, and interferes in politics.

The remedy, he said, is to reinvigorate state and local governments and deflate bureaucratic empires. Mr. Hoover is chairman of the commission for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.

Message From Eisenhower

The village blacksmith's son who became president of the United States was greeted by a huge crowd which had gathered to pay tribute to the gray-haired elder statesman. West Branch, a village of 719 inhabitants, was jammed by an estimated crowd of 50,000 who came to welcome the nation's 31st chief executive.

President Eisenhower, in a birthday message to Mr. Hoover, said that "few men in our country's history have been privileged to serve the nation in so many important capacities as have you, and certainly none has done so with greater brilliance and devotion."

"Your party and your country are proud of you; Americans know that you have ever used your great talents in the interests of all," Mr. Eisenhower wrote.

Among those here to honor him today were Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa and Wilbur M. Brickner, former governor of Michigan and now counsel to the secretary of defense. Bruckner represented Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who had been scheduled to attend but was kept in Washington by the expected closeness of the vote on the administration's farm bill.

The morning's events included dedication of a Herbert Hoover elementary school, the 31st in the nation, and a visit to the two-room cottage where the future President and his wife were born.

Old Fashioned Meal
At noon church women prepared an "old fashioned Iowa dinner" for 200 invited guests. The menu included fried chicken, corn on the cob, tomatoes, apple sauce, a heaping relish plate and cake and ice cream.

Topping the afternoon ceremonies were addresses by Mr. Hoover, Gov. William S. Beardsley and President Virgil M. Hancher of the University of Iowa. Hancher came to present Mr. Hoover with an honorary doctor of laws degree — one of more than 30 the former President has received.

Among the audience were the former President's two sons, Herbert Jr. and Allan, his six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Seventh Trip Back
It was the seventh time Mr. Hoover had come back to West Branch since he left it as an orphan at the age of 10.

The future President went to live with an uncle at Newberg, Mo. When he returned to West Branch in 1897 he was already a young mining engineer of great promise. On his second visit, in 1923, he had an estimated four million dollars in mining ventures in Burma, Australia, Romania and Russia.

In 1928 the town's favorite "barefoot boy" came back to kick off his successful presidential campaign against Alfred E. Smith. He returned again in 1932, after his defeat and the start of the depression. There were no welcoming celebrations for him then.

In 1936 Mr. Hoover discussed plans for restoring his birthplace here and, in 1948, thousands of Iowans came to West Branch to watch him cut his 74th birthday cake.

Mr. Hoover will fly to New York Wednesday, where he makes his permanent home at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution will be submitted on a separate blue ballot to the electors of the State of Illinois for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 2, 1954.

LEGISLATIVE APPOINTMENT AMENDMENT

Article IV

Section 6. The General Assembly in 1955 shall redistrict the state for the purpose of electing state senators. There shall be fifty-eight senatorial districts. Cook county shall have twenty-four of the districts. These twenty-four districts shall be located as follows: Eighteen in the territory that is within the present corporate limits of the city of Chicago; and six in the territory that is in Cook county outside such corporate limits. The remaining one hundred and one counties of the state shall have thirty-four of the senatorial districts.

All senatorial districts shall be formed of contiguous and compact territory. In their formation, area shall be the prime consideration. The senatorial districts shall be numbered one, two, three, and so forth, including fifty-eight. Each such district shall elect one senator, whose term of office shall be four years. Senators elected in districts bearing even numbers shall be elected in 1956 and every four years thereafter; and senators elected in districts bearing odd numbers shall be elected in 1958 and every four years thereafter.

Section 7. The General Assembly in 1955 and in 1963, and every ten years thereafter, shall redistrict the state for the purpose of electing state representatives. There shall be fifty-nine representative districts. In the 1955 redistricting, Cook county shall have thirty of the districts. These thirty districts shall be located as follows: Twenty-three in the territory that is within the present corporate limits of the city of Chicago; and seven in the territory that is in Cook County outside such corporate limits. The remaining one hundred and one counties of the state shall have twenty-nine of the representative districts. In redistricting subsequent to the 1960 census, and thereafter, the fifty-nine representative districts shall be divided among (1) that part of Cook County that is within the present corporate limits of the city of Chicago, (2) that part of Cook county that is outside such corporate limits, and (3) the remaining one hundred and one counties of the state, as nearly as may be, as the population of each of these three divisions bears to the total population of the state.

Representative districts shall be formed of contiguous and compact territory, and shall contain, as nearly as practicable, a population equal to the representative ratio; outside of Cook County, such districts shall be bounded by county lines unless the population of any county entitles it to more than one representative district. The representative ratio for the entire state shall be the quotient obtained by dividing the population of the state by fifty-nine. No representative district may contain less population than four-fifths of the representative ratio.

Three representatives shall be elected in each representative district in 1956 and every two years thereafter. The term of office shall be two years. In all elections of representatives, if a candidate is qualified voter may cast as many votes for one candidate as there are representatives to be elected, or may distribute the same, or equal parts thereof, among the candidates, as he shall see fit; and the candidates highest in votes shall be declared elected.

Section 8. In performing its duties under Sections 6 and 7 of this amendment, the General Assembly shall redistrict and reapportion in a single legislative enactment. If, however, the regular session of the General Assembly in 1955 as to both senatorial and representative districts or in 1963, or any ten years thereafter as to representative districts, fails by the first day of July to redistrict the state into such districts, then the redistricting shall be accomplished by a commission. Within thirty days after such first day of July, the state central committee of each of the two political parties, casting the highest votes for governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election, shall submit to the governor of the state a list of ten persons. Within thirty days thereafter, the governor shall appoint the commission of ten members, five from each list. If either of the state central committees fails to submit the list within the specified time, the governor, within the specified time, shall appoint five members of his own choice from the party of such committee. Each member of the commission shall receive $25.00 a day, but not more than $2,000 for his service.

This commission shall redistrict the state into senatorial districts and into representative districts in the manner specified above. This commission shall file with the secretary of state a full statement of the numbers of the senatorial and representative districts and their boundaries. No such statement shall be valid unless approved by seven members of such commission.

After such statement is filed, senators and representatives shall be elected according to the statement and the districts therein determined, until a redistricting and reapportionment are thereafter made by the General Assembly as provided in this amendment. If, however, the statement is not filed within four months after the commission is appointed, it shall stand discharged. Thereupon, all senators, scheduled for election at the next election for state senators, and all state representatives shall be nominated and elected at the next election from the state at large. Following such an election at large, the General Assembly at its next regular session shall perform the duties specified in this amendment. But if such a General Assembly fails to perform these duties, then another commission, as specified in this Section 8, shall be appointed in like manner, with like effect, and so forth until a valid senatorial and representative redistricting and reapportionment are secured in this 1950 decade and each decade thereafter. But there can be only one valid senatorial and representative redistricting and reapportionment during a particular decade.

Schedule

While this amendment of Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV, if adopted, shall be effective upon its adoption, nevertheless the General Assembly meeting in 1955 or 1956 shall consist of fifty-one senators and one hundred and fifty-three representatives as provided in Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV of the 1870 constitution of Illinois before the adoption of this amendment.

If the 1955 General Assembly in its regular session redistricts and reapportions, as required, or if upon its failure the commission does so, then those senators, who are still residents in odd numbered districts and who were elected in 1954, will retain their offices until the expiration of their terms. But in those odd numbered districts, as created in 1955, where no senator elected in 1954 has been a resident for one year next preceding the election in 1956, a vacancy exists in the office of senator for such district exists. Likewise, a vacancy exists in the office of senator in such odd numbered districts where two or more senators elected in 1954 are residents of the district. In either case, a senator in such an odd numbered district shall be elected in 1956 for a term expiring in 1958. The main purpose of this schedule is to provide for a senate with a full quota of members in 1957-1958.

Any senator elected in 1954, who is eliminated from his office by the redistricting, and who is not re-elected in 1956 for the two year term, shall be paid the salary for 1957-1958, that he would have received if he had been able to serve the full term of his office and shall receive such other benefits as would have accrued if he had served such term.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to Article IV will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 6, 7 AND 8 OF ARTICLE IV

(Legislative Apportionment Amendment)

Explanation of Amendment

This amendment would direct the General Assembly to redistrict the State for the purpose of electing one Senator from each of 58 senatorial districts and three Representatives from each of 59 representative districts.

As concerns the Senate, area would be the "prime consideration" in the formation of the 58 districts. Downstate would be entitled to 34 districts and Cook county to 24 districts, 18 of them in Chicago and six in the county outside Chicago.

As concerns the House of Representatives, the 59 districts would be based upon equal population as nearly as practical, except that in the redistricting prior to the 1960 census, downstate would be entitled to 29 districts and Cook county to 30 districts, 23 of them in Chicago and seven in the county outside Chicago. The three Representatives from each district would be elected by cumulative voting, as at present.

Should the General Assembly fail to redistrict as directed, this duty would fall on a commission appointed by the Governor. The State central committees of the two major parties would each submit a list of 10 nominees to the Governor, who would appoint five from each list, making a 10 member commission. Should the commission fail to redistrict, Senators coming up at the next election and all Representatives would be elected from the State at large. If the resulting General Assembly still fail to redistrict, a new commission would be appointed, as before, and should this second commission fail to redistrict, legislators would again be elected at large—and so forth until a valid redistricting is secured.

For the proposed amendment to Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV of the Constitution (Legislative Apportionment).

STATE TREASURER AMENDMENT

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE V

Article V

Section 1. The executive department shall consist of a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of public accounts, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and attorney general, who shall each hold his office for the term of four years from the second Monday of January next after his election and until his successor is elected and qualified. They shall, except the lieutenant governor, reside at the seat of government during their term of office, and keep the public records, books and papers there, and shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by law.

Section 2. The treasurer shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is elected and qualified, and shall be ineligible to said office for four years next after the end of the term for which he was elected. He may be required by the governor to give reasonable additional security, and in default of so doing his office shall be deemed vacant.

Section 3. An election for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary

Presbyterian Deacons And Families Picnic at Sahara 7

The members of the Board of Deacons of the Presbyterian church and their families enjoyed a picnic at the Sahara 7 picnic grounds Monday evening. This was the regular August meeting of the Deacons.

The picnic opened with all gathering around the well-filled tables and together praying the Lord's Prayer.

Following the dinner, while the children played and the women visited there was informal discussion among the Deacons of plans for the fall and winter program of the church.

Present to enjoy the fellowship were the following Deacons and their families: John Cape, Bob Morris, Frank Jarrell, Roy Brown, Lewis Fulkerson, John Jarrell, Dale Sullivan, Roy Wise, Bill Melton, James Arensman and Edward Harned and his daughter, Mrs. Clara Louise Pittman.

Huge House

Mrs. Sarah Winchester believed that death would never take her as long as her home remained unfinished, so she kept adding rooms to it. On her death, in 1922, her Santa Clara, Calif., home contained 160 rooms.

of state, auditor of public accounts, and attorney general, shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, in the year of our Lord 1872, and every four years thereafter; for superintendent of public instruction, and treasurer, on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, in the year 1958, and every four years thereafter at such places and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to Article V will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE V

(State Treasurer Amendment)

Explanation of Amendment

This amendment changes the length of the term of office of the State Treasurer from two years to four years. The Treasurer will remain ineligible to succeed himself in office.

For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2 and 3 of Article V of the Constitution (State Treasurer).

PROPOSED ILLINOIS MICHIGAN CANAL AMENDMENT

The Illinois and Michigan canal or other canal or waterway owned by the State may be sold or leased upon such terms as may be prescribed by law. The General Assembly may appropriate for the operation and maintenance of canals and waterways owned by the State.

Form of Ballot

The proposed amendment to the separate section of the constitution pertaining to canals and waterways will appear upon the constitution ballot in the following form:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE SEPARATE SECTION OF THE CONSTITUTION PERTAINING TO CANALS AND WATERWAYS

(Illinois and Michigan Canal Amendment)

Explanation of amendment

This amendment would eliminate:

1. the present requirement that the Illinois and Michigan canal or other canal or waterway may be sold or leased only with specific approval of a majority of the voters participating in a general State election; and

2. the provision under which the Illinois deep waterway was financed and constructed.

For the proposed amendment to the separate section of the Constitution pertaining to canals and waterways (Illinois and Michigan Canal).

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber

THE STORY: Sage City is a wide-open trail town in Kansas in 1877. Luke Miller runs a little paper fighting to make it a decent place to live. Then Wes to town, alias John Bailey, comes to town and gets a job as a printer Miller is fighting Jacob Fugger, who owns most of the town and who is striving to keep it a wide-open place where cowboys spend their money. Miller doesn't know that the mild-mannered printer "Bailey" shot and killed the outlaw Sam Older and a short time before foiled a stagecoach robbery at Turkey Creek.

VI

Fugger went to Abilene and for $500 bought a quarter interest in a small store. A year later he was the sole owner of the store in Abilene and since the railroad had gone on another hundred miles to the west, Fugger established a new store at the terminus. Five years and five stores later, Fugger arrived in Sage City. This was the closest it would ever come to Texas and here, Fugger decided, would be his last stand. Eventually, someone would build a railroad down into Texas, but by that time Fugger would not care.

Heavy feet clomped up the stairs to the porch over the rear of the big store where Fugger did his bookkeeping. The huge head of Bill Bleek appeared. "Van Meter's here," Bleek said, shortly.

"Send him up. There'll be some others, too."

Bill Bleek stomped down the stairs and after a moment Van Meter came up. He was about 40, a smooth-looking man in Prince Albert and well-brushed derby.

"What's it about?"

"Hong Kong Smith's arriving in town tomorrow."

Van Meter nodded. "I thought he was due. His trail herd arrived yesterday."

"The money might as well stay here, but it won't if Luke Miller has much more to say. Smith would take his herds elsewhere," Fugger said.

A step sounded on the steps leading up to the veranda and Fugger made a small gesture to the banker. The broad, placid face of Morgan Holt, the hardware man, appeared.

"Evening, Jacob," he said. "Thanks for stopping by, Morgan."

More steps creaked on the stairs and two men came up, Packard, the owner of the Boston Store, and McCoy, who owned the biggest saloon in Sage City. Close on their heels came a pudgy man of about 50, who wore a floppy black hat, a soiled white shirt and a long string tie. This was Judge Olsen.

Fugger then rolled out the ball. "I called you here to talk about Luke Miller."

"That's what I thought it would be about," remarked Packard.

Fugger regarded Packard without pleasure. "Perhaps I shouldn't have asked you."

Packard shrugged. "I can leave."

"And have you say we're all scheming behind your back?" Fugger snapped. "Stay, I'll say what I've got to say. It's been a long winter and we've got a short season ahead of us. Four good months, maybe five. We're businessmen and we've got to make the most of those months."

"Ames!" exclaimed McCoy, the saloon man.

"The point is," continued Fugger, "what are we going to do about Luke Miller and his newspaper?"

"I don't see that we can do anything," declared Packard. "Luke's got a right to put out a newspaper."

"I think," said Jacob Fugger, "we can do without you."

Packard drew a deep breath and let it out heavily. "I think you can. But before I go, I want to say a few words."

"You don't have to."

"But I'm going to. I came to Sage City four years ago because I was looking for a new town, where I could settle down with my family. I brought money to this town and I've made money here. I've built a home and for five months of the year my wife is afraid to step out of the house and I can't let my children on the street, for fear of a wild cowboy riding or shooting them down. Sure, we've made money from the Texas men, but we could have made it without them. The land that the cattle trample with their hoofs is the finest farming land in the state. Farmers have come in and more would come if they could settle down in peace. The future of this area is not with the cattle drovers, but with farmers."

Packard stepped to the stairs and descended them.

"And now," said Fugger, heavily, "we'll get on with the business. Judge, how much did you make on fines last year?"

Judge Olsen squirmed. "Barely enough to get by."

"You made," said Fugger, "$6,245. Most of that money came from the Texas men."

"The marshal and his men arrested them."

"They're not going to arrest many this year."

The judge showed great displeasure. "But my office is a fee office. There's no salary connected with it."

"We'll have to make other arrangements. The marshal and his men can't arrest people for every trivial violation of the city ordinances. A man has a right to enjoy himself in our town. We'll let that word get around among the Texas men and we'll have more herds coming here than all the other trail towns put together."

"And what about Luke Miller?" put in McCoy, the saloon man.

"He's got to be taken care of."

Predicts Senate Will Act On Postal Pay Bill

House Overrides Administration By 351-29 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Frank Carlson of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service committee today predicted the Senate will act on a pay raise for federal workers at the present session.

But the question of how much of a boost and what government employees would get it was still to be worked out by the Senate GOP leadership and by Carlson's committee.

The House put the matter squarely up to the Senate Monday when it approved—over the objections of its administration leaders—a 7 per cent pay increase for the nation's 500,000 postal workers.

The roll call vote was 351-29. It came after House GOP leaders warned that the measure faces a presidential veto.

Carlson (R-Kan.) said he will "get together" with Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) to discuss the pay raise. Carlson's committee has proposed a 5 per cent pay increase for all federal workers.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) top committee Democrat, said he favors a 7 per cent increase for all government employees. He also thought it likely that the Senate will approve some pay boost.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield promptly objected to the House postal pay bill. He said it provides no revenue to pay the higher salaries and "gravely discriminates" against some 140,000 temporary postal employees.

Summerfield also charged that the measure makes no attempt to correct "long standing inequities" in the Post Office Department which congressional committees have condemned. He said the bill "continues to ignore the necessity of halting the climb of the postal deficit."

The measure would give regular postal workers a temporary 7 per cent annual pay increase. The minimum boost would be $240 and the maximum would be $480. Hourly and part-time employees would be paid 10 cents more per hour.

State Dep't Opposes Halt in Red Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials said today a congressional group's proposal to cut all diplomatic and commercial ties with Communist countries might hurt the free world more than the Reds.

They said such a step could handicap the West by cutting off its listening posts behind the Iron Curtain without seriously hurting the Soviet orbit.

The proposal was made in an interim report filed by a special House committee headed by Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis.) set up to investigate Communist aggression. The group, after hearing testimony from 112 "eyewitnesses" to Communist aggression in Europe, recommended that President Eisenhower call an international conference seeking agreement to:

(1) Withdraw diplomatic recognition from all Moscow-controlled Communist governments; (2) terminate all commercial treaties and trade with Communist governments; and (3) develop a trade program among non-Communist nations which will strengthen the free world.

The State Department declined comment on the sweeping congressional recommendation. But Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may discuss it at his weekly news conference today.

Officials said the idea of an international conference along the broad lines proposed by the House committee apparently was a new one. It was known, however, that the State Department in the past has considered the question of the United States alone breaking off diplomatic and trade relations with the Communist world. It reached the decision then that such a move would do this country more harm than good.

Booklet Outlines Three Proposed State Amendments

County voters will receive this week a booklet, provided by the state, outlining the three proposed amendments to the Illinois Constitution to be voted on in November.

County Clerk Don B. Garrison reported he had received a shipment of booklets from Charles F. Carpenter, Secretary of State. The booklets contain 12 pages and enough of them were printed for every voter in Illinois.

Included in the booklets are the present forms of the Constitution, proposed amendments to the Constitution, explanation of the proposed amendments, arguments in favor of the amendments and the form of the Blue Ballot.

The three amendments are the "Local Self-Reliance" Amendment, the "State Treasurer Amendment" and the "Illinois and Michigan Canal Amendment."

The second amendment mentioned would lengthen the term of treasurer from two to four years. The third would eliminate the need for voter approval of the sale or lease of the Illinois and Michigan canals.

The one stirring up the most interest is the reapportionment amendment, which means that the state would undergo legislative redistricting.

Pick Up Four Girls Escaped from Geneva Training School

MORRISON, Ill. (AP)—Four girls who ran away from the Geneva, Ill., Training School for Girls Sunday were picked up here by White-side County authorities.

The sheriff's office said the girls were held until school officials arrived to take them back. Sheriff's deputies said the girls climbed over a fence.

The girls, taken into custody early Monday, were identified as Mary Mezo 16, McLeansboro; Shirley Pruitt 18, Sidell; Gladys Sisti, 17, Springfield; and Mary McGeorge, 17, Warrensburg.

Committee Trims Charges Against Senator McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate committee weighing the move to censure Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy may reduce the 46 charges against him to 10 to 15, reliable sources said today.

These sources said the special committee would probably toss out some of the charges because of duplication. Others, they said, would be discarded because they might be hard to prove or, if true, be insufficient to warrant censure.

Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) chairman of the special six-man group, said the group studied "all the charges" at a secret 3-12 hour meeting Monday. But he said charges to be thrown out would not be announced until hearings get underway.

The committee agreed to start the hearings on Aug. 30. It also decided Monday to let McCarthy cross-examine witnesses and to throw the proceedings open to the press and public. But it reaffirmed a previous decision to ban radio and television coverage of the proceedings.

'Earthquake' Felt At Petersburg, Ind.

PETERSBURG, Ind. (AP)—A startling "earthquake" shook Main street stores and rattled dishes in Petersburg Monday.

Residents said practically the whole town felt the vibrations, which lasted only a short time. But there was no scientific proof it was really an earthquake. At Bloomington, Indiana university's seismograph failed to record the shock because it was turned off at the time for a monthly "cleanup."

Dr. Judson Mead, associate professor of geology, said if it was a true "quake" it "would have been highly uncommon" for the area. He said it could have been "a little mine subsidence," or underground mine cave-in.

No damage was reported.

Two Runs by Fire Department

The Harrisburg fire department made two calls during the past 24 hours, both being rubbish fires and no damage resulting.

Monday at 12:30 p. m. a run was made in the 900 block on South Main and at 12:15 p. m. today a run was made to 1208 South Jackson. Fire Chief Ray Johnson reported.

The operator holds a small microphone on the metal being worked and listens through earphones to the amplified sounds of the metal being scraped away. Loudness of the sound is proportionate to the amount of metal being removed.

Issue Basic Regulations for Migratory Fowl

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has issued basic regulations for the 1954-55 migratory waterfowl hunting season. There are minor changes in shooting hours, season lengths, and bag and possession limits.

Acting Interior Secretary Ralph A. Tudor said the adjustments were made to compensate for some breeding grounds.

These reports indicate that breeding populations this year will be slightly lower than last year, although still above the last five-year average.

The basic regulations do not call for specific season dates or shooting hours within the various states, but permit state game administrators to set the exact dates within a general framework. Based on the number of hunting days allotted to each flyway, the state officials must set the season within Oct. 1 to Jan. 20, 1955.

States deciding to extend the season beyond Jan. 10, however, will have to give up two hunting days before that date for each day beyond it.

States also are given the option of selecting shooting hours from one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, with woodcock and jacksnipe shooting permitted until sunset. Shooting of all waterfowl on opening days of the season, including the first day of the split seasons, will begin at noon. This year's regulations still permit hunters to take one hooded merganser, but it must be included in the regular bag and possession limits on other ducks. American and red-breasted mergansers also are to be included in the overall bag limits.

Tudor said Fish and Wildlife Service officials based the regulations on data gathered from surveys of the waterfowl breeding grounds. The surveys, he said, were made by service biologists and game management agents, state game department technicians, wildlife experts of the Canadian Wildlife Service, the provincial game branches, and field personnel in Canada of Ducks Unlimited and the Wildlife Management Institute.

Honeymoon Ends As Couple Runs Up $1,588 Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — The honeymoon appeared to be over today for a young New Yorker and his pretty bride who are accused of running up a $1,588 bill at the swank Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Douglas C. Cooper, 27, and his 22-year-old wife, former New York model Trudy Lewis, appeared in police court today to answer charges of defrauding an innkeeper.

Mrs. Cooper had not a word for her husband and even kept her back turned toward him.

She asked for a separate trial and appeared indignant when Judge George B. Weiss refused on grounds that they had been arrested together and charged with a common offense.

"I'm sick of it all," she said. "I just want to go home."

Weiss continued the case until Friday and it was reported that lawyers for the bride and groom would attempt, meanwhile, to settle the account at the Edgewater Beach.

Later, Mrs. Cooper was released on $500 bond but her husband was kept in jail when he couldn't supply a bond of $2,000. Cooper said he believed he could raise the money in two days to pay the bill at the Edgewater Beach and that he really had only one worry: "Does my wife still love me?" The police said they didn't know.

Cokes, Lions, AAA, Jaycees Win Kiwanis Tilts

The Cokes, Lions, AAA and Jaycees were winners of games played Monday in the Kiwanis league as play was resumed after a week of idleness because of the Saline County Fair.

The Cokes took over first place in the American league race by trouncing Walker's 13-2. They slapped 10 hits off Hatcher as Cummins allowed only five hits as he gained the victory.

The Lions were credited with a 9-0 victory over Pankey's. The Triple A nine combined 12 hits and 11 walks to tally 20 times to beat the Elks, 20-7. Hegglin pitched a steady eight-hitter in gaining the victory. Byrd was the loser.

Dick Weatherly turned in a brilliant pitching performance as he shut out the Elks, 2-0. Potter pitched good ball for the losers as he allowed only four runs, but his teammates could not score off Weatherly as he pitched no-hit ball for six innings and was within two outs of having a no-hitter when Morrow hit a single.

Terry Humble at Baseball Hall of Fame Ceremonies

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Baseball's latest Hall of Fame ceremonies produced an optimistic report from Commissioner Ford Frick and a humble speech from one of its newest members, former first baseman Bill Terry.

Frick, in opening Monday's annual festivities at baseball's recognized birthplace, declared that "Baseball still is in its infancy." The commissioner then cited a survey by the Gallup Institute showing that "15 years ago, only 7 per cent of the population was interested in baseball, while today that figure is 47 per cent."

Following his introductory statement, Frick presented Terry and Bill Dickey, former star catcher and manager of the New York Yankees, to the crowd. They, along with the late Rabbit Maravilla, were voted into the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association early this year.

Feels Terry's Entry Overdue
In introducing Terry, who compiled a lifetime major league batting average of .341, Frick said he thought the former player-manager of the New York Giants "should have been in the Hall a long time ago."

Terry, often accused of being uncooperative with baseball writers during his days with the Giants, was visibly moved by the introduction. "I didn't know I would feel like this," he said. "I don't know who kept me out of the Hall before this, but now that I am in, I want to thank God for it."

Other Inductees Listed
Six other players also appointed to the Hall by the special Old Timers Committee, also were honored. They were Charles Albert (Chief) Bender, star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics who died on May 22 this year; Roderick (Bobby) Wallace, star major league infielder at the turn of the century; Edward G. Barrow, former Boston Red Sox manager who died last year; Harry Wright, Cincinnati manager immediately after the Civil War; Tom Connolly, former umpire-in-chief of the American league, and Bill Klem, former chief umpire of the National league who died in 1951.

In the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game at Abner Doubleday Field, the Yankees scored six runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 10-9. Reserve shortstop Willie Miranda stroked two key hits to pace the Yankees' late rally.

Reveal Landy Ran Mile with Gash on Foot

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — John Landy had a "nasty gash" on the sole of his right foot when he clocked 3:59.6 in finishing second to Roger Bannister in the "Mile of the Century" last Saturday, a Canadian doctor asserted today.

Landy himself brushed off the doctor's statement and said he was suffering only from a "bruise" on his right heel.

But Dr. Ken Young of the University of British Columbia Health Service said that Landy had been treated for a gash on the sole of his right foot before Saturday's big race, which was watched throughout Canada and the United States by television.

Dr. Young said that a news blackout on the injury had been ordered by James Eve, manager of the Australian team in the British Empire Games.

Dr. Young said that Landy made a "terrific" effort to walk without limping and did not limp until after the race was over. After leading into the last turn of the race, and setting a world record of 3:41.9 for 1,500 meters en route, the Australian star was passed by Bannister, who won the race in 3:58.8.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON
Here is how you play The Sporting News Baseball Quiz: You get four choices—mark your picks 1-2-3-4. For a correct first choice you score ten points, five for a second, three for a third and one for a fourth. If you score more than 20 points, you're a better than average baseball fan. Fifty points is perfect.

When Joe Adcock went on his batting spree and hit four home runs in a game against the Brooklyn Dodgers on July 31, it recalled the feats of other players who had four home runs in a game.

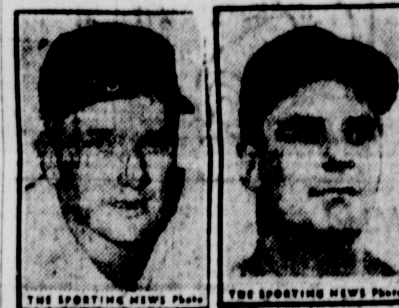

1. Of the five players who hit four home runs in a game, one player hit two in an inning.
() Adcock () Klein
() Delahanty () Lowe
() Hodges

2. Of the pitchers listed below, one hit a home run in his first time at bat in the major leagues.
() Deal () Larsen () Trucks
() Law () Porterfield () Wilhelm

3. On June 15, 1952, the New York Giants were leading the St. Louis Cardinals after three innings by the score of 11 to 0. The Cards eventually won that game, 14 to 12—which gives them the N. L. record for overcoming the most runs to win. What club holds the American league record?
() Boston () New York
() Cleveland () St. Louis
() Detroit () Philadelphia

4. Three major league clubs had the same won-and-lost record for the second fifty games of the current season as they had for the first. The Baltimore Orioles won 18 and lost 32 in each group, while the Chicago Cubs had 21 won and 29 lost records in each of the fifty games. What other club had identical marks?
() Cardinals () Indians () Red Sox () Giants () Redlegs
() Senators

5. Hank Sauer's greatest year as a home run hitter was 1947 when he hit 50 home runs for Syracuse in the International league, but lost the lead to Howie Moss, who had 53. Duke Snider in 1944 led the Piedmont league in home runs with nine. What player has hit more home runs in each season he has played in the majors than he did in any of his three as a minor leaguer?

Carroll Belcher is taking over the coaching reigns at Vienna this fall. He replaces Glenn Jones, who resigned to become Johnson county school superintendent. A native of Anna, Belcher has coached at Shawnee the past two seasons. Prior to that, he was at McClure two seasons. Belcher was a member of the Anna-Jonesboro team of State Tourney fame ten years ago. A graduate of SIU, he is married and has four sons.

Shawneetown high school gymnasium has received some attention this summer. The entire playing floor has been refinished and rescaled. Workmen are preparing to mark the lines and give it the final polish prior to the opening of school there Aug. 30. What with Coach Barney Genisio planning for a still bigger and better season than last year, the Indians will need a good court.

Coach Al Penman, Ridgway mentor, has been busy this summer as a swimming instructor. Penman has tutored several different age classes in the art of swimming. Most of his classroom work has been dispensed at Pounds Hollow, and several beginners have developed into very capable swimmers at his direction.

Herb Cummins, who was promoted from Ens. to Lt. (j.g.) in the USNR on July 12, 1954, has recently completed a 9 month tour of duty in Japan and Korea aboard the USS Mainstay (AM-261) and the USS Waxhill (AMS-39). He is now stationed at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center in Indianapolis, Ind., serving as executive planning and coordinating the training program for approximately 800 reserves. He was called home by the serious illness of his father, Frank O. Cummins, who is confined to his home at 119 South Skaggs.

Indianapolis Defeats Ass'n All-Stars, 3-2

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis Indians, who've been doing it with hustle all season, have added a 3-2 victory over the American Association All-Stars to their collection.

Manager Kerby Farrell's young tribe, leading the league by a top-heavy 15½ games, took its second triumph in three attempts in stride.

"It was a good, tight ball game—a typical Indianapolis win," said Farrell, whose club wound out an early 2-0 All-Star lead Monday night and sewed up the game with an unearned run in the eighth.

"Sure, we got the breaks," Farrell added, "but they could have gone the other way just as easy."

Two All-Star errors, the only miscues of the snappy ball game before 10,948 Victory Field fans, between Gale Wade's single to right brought in Harry Malmberg with the winning run. The pay-off was an attempted pick-off play by Toledo right-hander Bert Thiel to first base, the throw going wild.

A master strategist, Farrell then called on Ted Wilks, the old pro, to retire the All-Stars in the ninth. Wilks promptly responded and struck out Louisville lead-off man Marty Keough, who couldn't buy a hit all night, to end the game.

The Hoosiers' victory snapped the All-Stars' six-game winning streak, but the Stars still hold a 7-5 edge in the series.

Southpaw Dick Tomanek, with an unimpressive 4-6 season mark, was the winner. Thiel, who entered the game in the seventh inning, was charged with the loss.

Unlike most All-Star games, this was a pitchers' duel. Indianapolis got only five hits, the All-Stars six.

Annual Baker Reunion Held Sunday at Mt. Moriah With Large Attendance

The annual Baker reunion was held Sunday at Mt. Moriah with a large number of relatives present.

At noon a sumptuous meal was served on the tables in the church basement.

The afternoon session was called to order by the president, Mrs. Paul Shewalter.

The president gave a brief historical review of the family and asked for reminiscences, humorous and otherwise, which were quite interesting.

The new officers are Pearl Sisk, president; Fern Reynolds, vice president; Ora Penfold, secretary; and Grover Abney, treasurer.

The association donated $20 to Mt. Moriah church.

Guests from a distance who attended were Mrs. Lena Bowman, Mrs. Della Spencer, Mrs. Bob Bowman of Berino, N. M., Mrs. Mary Blue Snedden, Fontana, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Chinnault, Syracuse, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Jay Miley, Chicago, J. H. Baker, Lawrenceville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Zella Foster of Marion, Mrs. Edith Sheeley, Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Knoxville;

Rev. and Mrs. Braden and daughter, Marleen, of Galatia, Loren Travelstead, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wells of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ledford, Harco, and local relatives not previously mentioned were John L. Baker, Mrs. Mary Weaver, Mrs. Bertha Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Small, Hoyt Weaver and family, John C. Small and family, Ward Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Abney, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kriculi, Mrs. Eva Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Stone;

Charles Reynolds and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker, Tracy Lavender and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wess Johnson, Ural Johnson, Mabel Bramlet, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Weaver, Paul Shewalter, Mrs. Grover Abney, Charles Rice and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Leitch.

Party Held for Visiting Cousins of Baker Family

A party for the visiting cousins of the Baker family was given at the John C. Small home Friday evening.

Those honored were Mrs. Lena Bowman, Mrs. Della Spencer and Mrs. Bob Bowman of Berino, N. M., Mrs. Mary Blue Snedden of Fontana, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Knoxville.

Two hours of steady visiting preceded the games which were conducted by Mrs. Bob Bowman, Mrs. Snedden, Mrs. Otis Stone and the hostess.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mary Margaret, and Mrs. Bowman, served a fruit punch and homemade fruit cookies to the following: the guests of honor and Mr. and Mrs. Grover Abney, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kriculi, Mrs. Mabel Bramlet and Miss Fern Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kimmell of Deberry, Fla., returned home Saturday after spending a few days with the L. L. Riegel family of Galatia and the A. J. Drott family.

Mrs. Paul Drott and Mrs. Otto Henn, who have been hospitalized since their automobile accident of three weeks ago, are to be released this week to convalesce in their homes.

House Approves Compromise Atomic Measure

Senate Democratic Leader Warns Against Quick Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new fight loomed today on the administration's controversial atomic energy bill.

The compromise version of the bill cleared its next-to-last legislative hurdle Monday. The House shouted its approval without the formality of a roll call.

But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson warned Republican Leader William F. Knowland Monday night that the Senate should not take quick action on the compromise. He said another "discussion" of the bill should be delayed until members find out what provisions were written into the compromise version by a Senate-House conference committee.

There were indications that the Senate fight will not develop into a renewal of the 13-day filibuster on the measure which produced four all-night sessions including the longest talkfest in Senate history.

In backstage talks, Senate opponents of the bill were pinning their hopes on a move to send the compromise back to a new conference committee for specific alterations. They want to force changes in the patent section and perhaps the power sections as well.

Opponents Charge "Giveaway" Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), one of the leading opponents of the bill, said he believes "a few hours" of debate would be enough to underline what opponents believe to be deficiencies in the compromise bill.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) said duration of the debate depended on how soon the bill is considered and how successful opponents are in lining up votes to reject the compromise.

Hill said opponents have "a pretty good chance" of defeating the conference report and of sending it back for changes.

The bill, based on President Eisenhower's recommendations, is designed to broaden international cooperation in the use of the atom for war and peace. It aims at promoting an atomic electric power industry by attracting the capital and genius of private enterprise.

Opponents of the bill have assailed it as a "giveaway" to private power interests.
